

nearly so large. At 5 o'clock in the morning the river was full of moving ice and at that time the immense amount of floating wreckage of all descriptions was noticeable. A number of house boats, some of them half submerged, passed down, and several empty coal barges that were cut down to the water's edge. One house boat went down that had a lighted lamp in one of the cabins. It could not be ascertained whether or not any people were aboard. A wrecked bridge went down at 5:30 and narrowly escaped hitting the wharfbarge, having first struck the steel bridge pier out in the channel and then quartered in toward the wharfbarge. About 10 o'clock a. m., however, the ice was not nearly so thick and was not heavy enough or large enough to inflict damage to craft tied up at the banks. In fact no damage was reported yesterday.

The amount of water that the railroads can stand is an interesting matter. Last evening it was stated on good authority that the Ohio River road will be unable to run its trains between Wheeling and Moundsville to-day if thirty-six feet is reached. It is understood that the Ohio River road will secure the use of the Baltimore & Ohio tracks if its trains cannot be run on its own line. It is not in the range of probability that there will be enough water to impede traffic on either the Pennsylvania or Baltimore & Ohio roads.

The two bridges on the line of the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling road over the river, had not been reconstructed yesterday, but passenger traffic was resumed, passengers being transferred at the two breaks. Freight traffic, it was stated at the company's offices last night, will be resumed on Thursday at the latest.

SINKING OF THE PHILLIPS.

The Boat Was Insured for Four Thousand Dollars—No Insurance on the Sistersville Wharfbarge.

The exclusive publication in yesterday's INTELLIGENCER of the full particulars of the sinking and destruction of the Wheeling and Matamoros packet, L. E. Phillips, at Matamoros, Ohio, on Sunday night, formed the topic of conversation yesterday in connection with the all-absorbing topic—the river. The bad luck of Harry Mendel, of this city, who owned both the Phillips and the sunken Sistersville wharfbarge, was commented on, and everybody expressed sympathy for him.

Captain Kline, of the Phillips, was in the city yesterday, having gone down to Matamoros to view the wreck. When he got there very little was visible, but he was of the opinion that the water and ice would not completely destroy the boat and that when the waters recede the heavy works of the boat will be found in fairly good shape. Other river men are not of the same opinion; they believe that very little will be found that is not almost entirely useless. Captain Kline states that Mr. Mendel carried insurance of $4,000 on the Phillips, which will lessen his loss considerably. On the Sistersville wharfbarge, however, the $2,000 insurance carried was for loss by fire, only, so that that is a complete loss to Mendel. Mendel, who is in Taylor, Texas, was telegraphed to after the double disaster, and yesterday word was received from him that he would not return to Wheeling just now. He instructed Captain Kline to do all possible in the emergency.

DOWN AT BELLAIRE.

It Will Take Over Forty Feet to Do Much Damage—Families Removed from the Bottoms.

The bottom west of Belmont street and far beyond the Baltimore & Ohio stockpens, at Bellaire, was all inundated yesterday evening, and the occupants of several of the small shanties that border that bottom had hunted shelter elsewhere. One family whose hut had been surrounded by water was moved out and domiciled at the city hall by the Woman's Aid Society, and others were cared for by neighbors and friends. The conflicting reports from Pittsburgh yesterday increased the anxiety of those who were within eight or ten feet of harm, and the steady rise of six to eight inches all day made them prepare for at least forty feet of water.

Forty feet will not damage Rodefer Bros. or the Bellaire bottle works materially, though it will reach the cellars at both plants, but more than that will seriously inconvenience both factories, but it will take forty-five feet to do them much damage. The steel works is not so fortunate. The water had reached the stockyard at that plant yesterday evening, and the works are shut down. The street cars were shut off yesterday about noon in consequence of the river covering the road at Whisky run. At West Wheeling it reached the paper mill in the evening and closed it down, but only the lower portion of the town was covered.

The gas works at Bellaire was seriously interfered with, the water being all around it at dark last night, but the electric plant will be kept running unless the forty-foot mark is passed by this morning. Nearly everybody prepared for about forty feet of water, and there will not be a great amount of loss here unless it should go beyond that.

HAD TO TAKE WATER.

How a South Side Councilman Got Very Anxious Yesterday.

A laughable incident occurred in a commission house on Main street yesterday afternoon. The merchant and a newspaper man were exchanging views as to the amount of water to be expected in the Ohio here this morning, when a well known councilman, who lives in that portion of the Sixth ward that frequently catches the high water, entered and, of course, eagerly joined in the discussion. Before this pair had agreed that thirty-seven feet would hardly be reached, but both knowing the gentleman's weakness, they raised their estimates and with the most serious of faces agreed that anything under forty feet would be surprising.

It soon developed that the councilman had three very fine Brussels carpets on the first floor of his home, and that an inch over thirty-seven feet would come in and play havoc. It can be imagined, therefore, that talk about forty feet had a depressing effect on the owner of the floor coverings. Finally he made the remark that he would give anybody $10 who would insure the carpets against damage by the high water.

One of the two conspirators said he thought the chances ought to be worth a larger premium, but finally said he believed he would take half of the risk for $5. The other was inclined to believe the water was sure to go above forty feet, but at last after an immense amount of bogus figuring that tended to set the Sixth ward man half crazy, he said he would take the risk and for $5 insure the carpets against damage by the water. The man who wanted insurance flashed two V's and seemed only too glad to give them up. He was particularly anxious that an improvised policy should be drawn up, and was undoubtedly acting in good faith.

One of the pair who had worked the South Side, commenced to write the policy, and had got as far as "We hereby agree to insure—" when a lingering smile stole over the policy writer's face, was caught by the man of carpets, and quick as a flash he sputtered out:

"I equal, boys, you've got it on me."

But for the failure of immobility of countenance the South Side innocent would have been short a tenner.

At Martin's Ferry.

At Martin's Ferry the river banks were lined with people all day yesterday, especially during the afternoon and evening. The residents of the bottoms were much alarmed. When word came that there was only twenty-six feet at Pittsburgh and it had been stationary all day they felt relieved. The only persons who moved out of their homes were those living in "Shanty-town" and "Boat-town" on the lowland in the First ward, and some of these stood shivering in the cold.

The only damage done by the water was to Jane Taylor's boat-house and it had capsize. The residence of Price Pence stood on stilts and others of the kind were surrounded by water. The water was up in the yards of several houses in Clark's addition and closer to the Belmont brick and tile works than any other manufactory in Martin's Ferry. One of the several barges floating down the river passed very close to the channel pier of the Union bridge. Several house-boats, a pilot house, a number of skiffs, many large logs, telephones and telegraph poles and new lumber of every description passed Martin's Ferry and a great deal was landed there. The Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling track in the upper part of Martin's Ferry was covered and the Terminal removed all the loaded cars in its yards there. There was not sufficient water to stop the pumping station of the water works and altogether the city was more fortunate than some others.

ONE ROAD TO ST. CLAIRSVILLE.

The Washed Out Bridges on the C. & L. W. Caused Inconvenience.

The cutting off of the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling train to St. Clairsville yesterday by reason of the flood and its damages, left only the Baltimore & Ohio route by rail to reach the Belmont county seat, and it being the opening of the winter term of court yesterday many people from the river front had business there. All had to come to Bellaire to get to the county seat, and those from Bridgeport and Martin's Ferry who returned this way in the evening only had one chance to get home—the owl train on the Cleveland & Pittsburgh road, all other routes being cut off.

Yesterday at Pittsburgh.

At 9 o'clock yesterday morning the stage of water in the Monongahela at Pittsburgh was 25 feet 9 inches and stationary. The river was falling above and it is thought that the highest stage has been reached. Unless there is more rain the rivers are expected to fall and the river men will begin to take advantage of the boating water to get coal to southern points.

The damage done by the flood at Pittsburgh has not been nearly as severe as was expected. All the iron mills along the banks of the Allegheny and Monongahela are under water and are closed down until the flood recedes. None of the railroads are blocked although the tracks of the Pittsburgh & Western are under water in Allegheny. While the total damage will aggregate a considerable amount, yet it will not approach the loss in the floods of 1884 and 1891.

Rising at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 8.—After standing for twelve hours at 25 feet the river at noon began rising. It will continue for a day or two and may reach 40 feet here by Thursday. News is received of the loss of a lot of logs in the Little Kanawha river, also in Tygart river a hundred thousand railroad ties were washed away, making a loss of $30,000.

The Flood at Pomeroy.

POMEROY, O., Jan. 8.—The government marks at 8 o'clock this morning show 20 feet of water and the river is rising six inches an hour. Business men are moving stores out of the cellars. Since 1884 there has not been so much alarm as now. It is raining again this morning. High water has destroyed a $1,000 bridge pier for the county on Leading creek and several bridges on other streams are damaged.

Big losses at Parkersburg.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 8.—The Palatine boom up the Kanawha river, has let go, and thousands of feet of ties, logs and lumber are at the mercy of the

The Ohio River railroad shops were ordered moved to-day. Rivermen look for thirty-six to forty feet of water here. Earliest, a Cincinnati diver, will go down to see what can be done to save the steamer Onondaga.

Unusual precautions have been taken to guard against high water.

MEXICAN BANDITS

Murder a United States Postmaster and his Son.

TUCSON, ARIZ., Jan. 8.—Last night's stage from Mammoth brought full particulars of the terrible double murder at a small town near that place, the victims being F. M. Doll and his son, who run a store there.

The family were at supper on Friday night when the Mexican shot the husband through the heart. The son ran out the back door and was brought down as he was crossing the road, which passed the house. When the murderers left the room to kill her son, Mrs. Doll extinguished the lights and concealed herself in the brush near the building. The Mexicans searched an hour for her and were scared off by an approaching wagon.

Mrs. Doll walked several miles to the nearest neighbor and gave the alarm. The throats of the murdered men were cut from ear to ear and their bodies hacked terribly. At least fifty cowboys are now on the trail of the murderers and will make short work of the men if they catch them.

Vale Wait.

DENVER, Col., Jan. 8.—Gov. Waite went out of office and Gov. McIntyre came in at noon to-day. The simple ceremonies were witnessed by a large and distinguished audience. There was no procession. The incoming and the outgoing governors rode together in a carriage from the capitol to the Tabor opera house where the legislators had assembled in joint session. The oath was administered to Gov. McIntyre by Chief Justice Hoyt. After ex-Gov. Waite had spoken a few words of farewell to his associates, and of greeting to his successor, Gov. McIntyre read his inaugural address.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work.
